

Leaders for Just Schools

Cultivating Equitable and Just Learning Environments

Our experiences define who we are, how we see the world and how we teach all our students. By developing and implementing culturally proficient models in our schools, we can work to correct some of the systemic limitations placed on students who often need the greatest advocacy and opportunities for empowerment.

Learning Targets:

- Understand the connection between educational equity and just schools
- Develop schools where all stakeholders feel valued and supported to see and achieve their potential
- Ensure all students have equitable opportunity for excellence
- Understand how to advocate for educational equity and just schools
